Hivello integrates Nosana to boost passive income yield and expand DePIN network

TORONTO – March 5, 2025 -- Blockmate Ventures Inc (TSX.V: MATE) (OTCQB: MATEF) (FSE: 8MH1) ("Blockmate" or the "Company") is pleased to announce that its investee, Hivello Holdings Ltd ("Hivello") has integrated with the Nosana network to increase passive income yield for Hivello users.

Nosana is one of the highest-yielding DePIN networks for GPU-based compute with significant demand from Artificial Intelligence (AI) and software developers.

Justin Rosenberg, CEO of Blockmate Ventures, commented, "Generative AI has exploded into mainstream internet use over the past year and these apps require large amounts of computing power to compete by generating outputs at high speed. Helping to fill a supply void for decentralized GPU power, we're delighted for Hivello to integrate with Nosana in a move that will see an increase in GPU node participation and earning opportunities for Hivello users seeking higher-yielding passive income."

Hivello Integrates Nosana to Boost GPU Earnings and Expand DePIN Opportunities

LONDON and AMSTERDAM, March 04, 2025 -- Hivello, an aggregator of decentralized physical infrastructure networks (DePINs), is excited to announce its latest integration with Nosana, a decentralized compute network designed to power AI and CI/CD workloads using GPU resources. This partnership marks a significant step in expanding earning opportunities for users with GPUs, as Nosana is one of the highest-yielding DePIN networks for GPU-based compute.

GPU-powered DePIN networks are among the most in-demand and profitable, and Nosana's integration allows Hivello users to maximize their earnings by contributing their GPUs to a decentralized AI and software development ecosystem. With Nosana now part of Hivello's automated compute aggregation platform, users can seamlessly connect their idle GPU power and generate higher returns while supporting the infrastructure behind AI model training and continuous software integration.

With Nosana now integrated, Hivello expects to see a surge in GPU node participation, giving more users the ability to earn rewards, stake $HVLO, and contribute to the next wave of DePIN-powered applications.

"The future of infrastructure is decentralized, and DePIN is leading this transformation," said Domenic Carosa, Co-Founder and Chairman of Hivello. "Nosana's integration is another step toward making

GPU-powered compute more accessible, rewarding, and scalable. Hivello is committed to supporting the growth of DePIN by enabling anyone, anywhere, to contribute to and benefit from a more open and distributed infrastructure."
